Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurIndia, 1816Fresh from the field of Waterloo, Matthew Hervey is dispatched on a mission of the utmost secrecy.Leaving behind his fiance, Lady Henrietta Lindsey, he must journey across tempestuous seas to India, an alien, exotic and beguiling land that will test his mettle to the very limit. For the princely state of Chintal is threatened both by intrigue from within and military might from without, and Hervey - sabre in hand - finds he is once more destined for the field of battle... 'Captain Hervey of the 6th

Light Dragoons and ADC to the Duke of Wellington is back in the saddle ...He is as fascinating on horseback as Jack Aubrey is on the quarterdeck.'The TimesRevue de presse"A marvellous read, paced like a well-balanced symphony ... This is more than a ripping yarn...I look forward enormously to hearing more of Hervey's exploits; he is as fascinating on horseback as Jack Aubrey is on the quarterdeck." (The Times)"This is an engaging work...The attention to detail is admirable" (Daily Express)"Allan Mallinson's grasp of the technical side of his subject is effortless and impressive...The portrayal of the men of all ranks is excellent ...This promises to be an extremely enjoyable series" (Spectator)"Treads a middle course between the subtleties of O'Brian and the simplicities of Cornwell...An exciting, fast-moving story, full of bloody hacking with sabre and tulwar." (Evening Standard)"O'Brian's equal in accurate knowledge of the equipment, methods, weapons and conditions of serve of the fighting men of whom he writes...An imaginative feat of high order, owing as much to thorough scholarship as it does to compassion and sensibility... Brilliantly conveyed" (Country Life)Prsentation de l'diteurIndia, 1816Fresh from the field of Waterloo, Matthew Hervey is dispatched on a mission of the utmost secrecy.
